

Strategies for promoting the engagement of students in statistical consulting

Ximing Xu

Nankai University
E-mail: nk_xu@hotmail.com

Abstract: Students can not only practice what they have learned by participating in statistical consulting , but also learn new knowlege and essential skills for being a qualified statistician. In this talk some strategies to increase the interest and engagement of students based on the practice at Nankai Unversity will be introduced, with projects on medical data used as illustrative examples.